A few recommendations on Vienna off the beaten track:

Wiener Staatsoper (Vienna Opera)

Standing places – of which more than 500 are available each day - are sold 1,5h before the start of the performance at the ticket desk in the Operngasse for 4€. Beware of the long queues for the highly-demanded tickets.

Weltmuseum (World Museum)

This critically minded ethnographic museum will open its doors just a few weeks before the Global Surgery Symposium and is located in the Imperial Palace.

Medical history and wax model museum

The Josephinum – Medical University of Vienna

The Josephinum houses the world-renowned collection of nearly 1,200 anatomical wax models commissioned by Emperor Joseph II in Florence for the newly established academy. Friday & Saturday 10 a.m. – 6 p.m. Admission fee: adults € 8.- and students € 5.-

Narrenturm

Continental Europe's oldest building for the accommodation of mental patients and is now home to the Federal Pathologic-Anatomical Museum Vienna. The non-publically accessible „Studiensammlung“ can be viewed by medical students and doctors (have a student card or professional ID ready).

Admission fee €4 , €2 for students

Wednesday 10-18h, Thursday 10-13h, Saturday 10-13h

VinziRast mittendrin

Pilot project of a co-Living space for homeless and students in shared flats in the heart of Vienna. They also have a restaurant where amongst others some inhabitants cook. An unconventional place for a nice dinner or lunch out.

Währinger Straße 19,
1090 Wien, Österreich

Montag-Freitag 10-24 h
Samstag 18-24 h
